About Me

I'm a decent person raised by a couple more than decent individuals, my parents and sister. Constantly trying to not just emulate them but also learn from them. I like to stand for what I believe in but am not afraid of differing perspectives and always welcome growth. I love to learn, in all aspects of life, and thrive in an environment where I'm constantly being challenged. I know I'm not perfect and I'm not trying to be, just trying to do the best I can for myself and everyone around me.
